

Certified Appraisers

The International Society of Transport Aircraft Trading (ISTAT) is a non-profit society whose members have common interests in the manufacture, purchase, brokerage, leasing, maintenance and appraisal of transport aircraft. International in structure, it is self-supporting and unaffiliated. Within ISTAT is a core group of professional aircraft appraisers who work cooperatively for the elevation of the appraisal profession within the world aviation community.

Each ISTAT member, who has satisfactorily demonstrated that he/she is qualified to appraise airline transport aircraft, has been granted the right to use one of the professional designations established by ISTAT. The use of such designations is predicated upon Society criteria: written examinations, submission of representative appraisal reports, full-time valuation experience, personal background check and participation in the Society's program of ongoing education.

Ethical practices and conduct required of the appraisers accredited by the Society are clearly defined in the ISTAT publication, Principles of Appraisal Practice and Code of Ethics.

The logo for ISTAT features the word "ISTAT" in a large, grey, serif font. The letter "A" is replaced by a blue triangle containing a white stylized aircraft or globe symbol.
